Constructing mosques : the governance of Islam in France and the Netherlands

Maussen, M.J.M.

Citation for published version (APA):

General rights
It is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), other than for strictly personal, individual use, unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

Disclaimer/Complaints regulations
If you believe that digital publication of certain material infringes any of your rights or (privacy) interests, please let the Library know, stating your reasons. In case of a legitimate complaint, the Library will make the material inaccessible and/or remove it from the website. Please Ask the Library: https://uba.uva.nl/en/contact, or a letter to: Library of the University of Amsterdam, Secretariat, Singel 425, 1012 WP Amsterdam, The Netherlands. You will be contacted as soon as possible.
Table of Contents

Acknowledgements ................................................................. 11

CHAPTER 1. The governance of Islam and the construction of mosques in Western Europe

1.1. Introduction ................................................................. 13

1.2. Islam and public policies in Western Europe: the state of research and theory .................................................. 16

1.3. A historically sensitive, institutional approach to the study of public policy discussions on Islamic presence and mosque creation ................................................. 22

1.3.1. Policy-making and Islam: discourse and institutions ...................................................................................... 22

1.3.2. Policy discussions and the role of institutions ................................................................................................. 26

1.3.3. Institutionalised regimes of government, public policy and social situations ................................................. 28

1.3.4. Institutional logics and path dependencies ........................................................................................................ 32

1.3.5. Case-study approach and public discussions on mosque creation ............................................................... 35

1.4. Public policy responses and the creation of mosques in France and the Netherlands: a comparative case study ......................................................... 37

CHAPTER 2. The governance of religion in France and the Netherlands. Institutional arrangements, traditions and principles

2.1. Introduction ................................................................. 43

2.2. Church-state relations in France: institutional repertoires and principles in their historical context ............................ 43

2.3. Legal regulations concerning the financing of houses of worship ................................................................. 46

2.4. Church-state relations in the Netherlands: institutional repertoires and principles in their historical context ......................... 48

2.5. Legal regulations concerning the financing of houses of worship ................................................................. 53

2.6. Conclusion ................................................................. 55

CHAPTER 3. French colonialism, Islam and mosques

3.1. Introduction ................................................................. 57

3.2. French colonialism and Islam in Africa ................................................................. 58

3.2.1. Governing Islam in Algeria (1830-1900): Cultes reconnus in a colonial context ............................................. 59

3.2.2. Governing Islam in West Africa: Islam as a source of cultural progress ............................................... 61

3.2.3. The early 20th century: La Politique Musulmane and an “Islam fabriquée par nous” ............................................. 61

3.2.4. Algeria: official Islam and priority of colonial imperatives over secularism ............................................... 62