Widen the market, narrow the competition: the emergence of supranational governance in EU capital markets
Mügge, D.K.

Citation for published version (APA):
Table of Contents

Acknowledgements .......................................................................................................................... v
Chapter 1: Introduction .................................................................................................................... 1
Chapter 2: Competition politics and supranational integration: a structurational approach .......... 42
Chapter 3: Banks' institutional power and domestic financial market reform in the 1980s .......... 69
Chapter 4: Negotiating the single market: interests and institutions around 1990 ...................... 98
Chapter 5: Revisiting the 1990s capital market revolution in Europe ............................................. 124
Chapter 6: Shifting preferences and the re-launch of financial market integration ..................... 159
Chapter 7: EU capital market integration and the emergence of supranational governance .......... 185
Chapter 8: Renegotiating the ISD in the supranational constellation ............................................ 208
Chapter 9: Conclusion ................................................................................................................... 233
Bibliography and list of sources ...................................................................................................... 249
Appendix: Overview of the international expansion of European banks .................................... 273
Summary .......................................................................................................................................... 275
Samenvatting .................................................................................................................................. 279