Widen the market, narrow the competition: the emergence of supranational governance in EU capital markets

Mügge, D.K.

Citation for published version (APA):
Table of Contents

Acknowledgements .................................................................................................................. v

Chapter 1: Introduction .............................................................................................................. 1

Chapter 2: Competition politics and supranational integration: a structuration approach .......... 42

Chapter 3: Banks' institutional power and domestic financial market reform in the 1980s .......... 69

Chapter 4: Negotiating the single market: interests and institutions around 1990 ..................... 98

Chapter 5: Revisiting the 1990s capital market revolution in Europe ........................................ 124

Chapter 6: Shifting preferences and the re-launch of financial market integration .................. 159

Chapter 7: EU capital market integration and the emergence of supranational governance ........ 185

Chapter 8: Renegotiating the ISD in the supranational constellation ...................................... 208

Chapter 9: Conclusion .............................................................................................................. 233

Bibliography and list of sources .............................................................................................. 249

Appendix: Overview of the international expansion of European banks ................................. 273

Summary .................................................................................................................................... 275

Samenvatting ............................................................................................................................ 279