Ambiguous ambitions: on pathways, projects, and pregnancy interruptions in Cameroon van der Sijpt, E.

Citation for published version (APA):

General rights
It is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), other than for strictly personal, individual use, unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

Disclaimer/Complaints regulations
If you believe that digital publication of certain material infringes any of your rights or (privacy) interests, please let the Library know, stating your reasons. In case of a legitimate complaint, the Library will make the material inaccessible and/or remove it from the website. Please Ask the Library: http://uba.uva.nl/en/contact, or a letter to: Library of the University of Amsterdam, Secretariat, Singel 425, 1012 WP Amsterdam, The Netherlands. You will be contacted as soon as possible.
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS ........................................................................................................................ V

PROLOGUE .......................................................................................................................................... 1

INTRODUCTION ............................................................................................................................... 5
Reconsidering reproduction ............................................................................................................. 6
Miscarriage versus stillbirth ........................................................................................................... 9
Unintended versus intended interruptions .................................................................................... 11
Suffering versus agency .................................................................................................................. 15
’Situating’ reproductive interruptions ............................................................................................. 20
Outline of the dissertation .............................................................................................................. 24

PART I: CONTEXTS

1. ASUNG, AIRES DE SANTÉ, AND AMBIGUITY: ON LOCAL TERRAINS AND THEIR TENSIONS ................................................................................................................................. 29
‘On cherche la vie’: making a living in Asung .................................................................................. 30
‘A daughter is to be shared’: marriage arrangements and kinship idioms ..................................... 38
Public health: its promises and problems ......................................................................................... 43
Reconnoitring reproductive health ................................................................................................... 47
Reproductive interruptions researched ........................................................................................... 52
Moral matters ................................................................................................................................... 60

2. EATING BANANAS AND FILLING WITH FORCE: ON PREGNANCY DEVELOPMENT AND MANAGEMENT .................................................................................................................. 63
Female physiology and fertility: divine destinies to be directed ..................................................... 65
Filling with force: expected embryology .......................................................................................... 69
Pregnancies in practice: social sorrows and secrets ....................................................................... 76
Pills, pictures, and prescriptions: a continuum of care .................................................................... 85
Conclusions: social tensions and solitary tactics .............................................................................. 92

PART II: CONJUNCTURES

3. OLD BODIES AND GREEDY PANTHERS: ON VILLAGE ETHICS OF PRODUCTION AND REPRODUCTION ....................................................................................................................... 95
‘A story to sleep upright’: Yvette’s story ............................................................................................ 96
Foetal futures: developing bodies and predestined personhood ...................................................... 107
Falling pregnancies and forceless babies: reproductive interruptions reconsidered ...................... 112
Diminishing force: fields, fire, and fertility ....................................................................................... 115
Ambiguous ambitions: Yvette’s experiences reconsidered .............................................................. 120
Conclusions: at a loss through loss .................................................................................................. 126

4. BIG FISH AND FOETAL BARGAINS: ON URBAN HORIZONS AND FERTILITY BETS ........ 129
From worms to witchcraft: Sophie’s story ........................................................................................ 130
Urban attractions and ambitions: possible pathways ...................................................................... 140
Informal insecurities: the ‘big fish’ bet .............................................................................................. 142
‘The vagina doesn’t talk’: flexible motherhood and false fatherhood ........................................... 146
Foetal fights: neg(ot)iations around interruptions ......................................................................... 154
Ambiguous ambitions: Sophie’s experiences reconsidered .............................................................. 157
Conclusions: negotiating hopes and horizons ................................................................................ 161

TABLE OF CONTENTS
5. HANGING UNDERWEAR AND FALLING MANGOES: ON IDIOMS OF DISTRESS, DESTINY, AND DECISION-MAKING

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Hanging underwear: mama Rosie’s story</td>
<td>164</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Falling mangoes and falling foetuses: Laura’s story</td>
<td>171</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>On patriarchal powers and modernized mamas: agency and suffering reinterpreted</td>
<td>180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The paradox of powerless portrayals: situating idioms of suffering and fate</td>
<td>184</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Infertility: accusations and alternative forms of agency</td>
<td>190</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Abortion: prevention and proof of suffering</td>
<td>193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conclusions: the stakes behind shared sorrows</td>
<td>198</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

CONCLUSION

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Ambitions affected: on intercontingencies and social stakes</td>
<td>202</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ambitions asserted: on individuality and tacit tactics</td>
<td>206</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Body basics: new notions of navigation</td>
<td>210</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

BIBLIOGRAPHY

APPENDICES

SUMMARY

SAMENVATTING

NOTES