Scripting Artworks: Studying the Socialization of Editioned Video and Film Installations

Noël de Tilly, A.

Publication date
2011

Citation for published version (APA):
Table of Contents

List of figures .................................................. 5

Acknowledgments ............................................... 11

Introduction .................................................... 13

Chapter 1
Exhibiting, Distributing, and Preserving (Editioned) Video and Film Installations .................................................. 27

1.0 Introduction ................................................ 28
1.1 Exhibiting and Re-Exhibiting Video and Film Installations .................................................. 31
1.2 Distributing Video and Film Installations .................................................. 40
1.3 Preserving Video and Film Installations .................................................. 46
1.4 Conclusion: Studying Film and Video Installations as Continuums .................................................. 51

Chapter 2
Scripting Editioned Video and Film Installations .................................................. 53

2.0 Introduction ................................................ 54
2.1 The Artwork’s Script ........................................ 55
2.2 Scripting Artworks .......................................... 63
2.3 Conclusion ................................................ 68

Chapter 3
Making/Displaying Douglas Gordon’s Play Dead; Real Time .................................................. 71

3.0 Introduction ................................................ 72
3.1 Bringing an Elephant in the “White Cube” .................................................. 74
3.2 The Plural Immanences of Play Dead; Real Time .................................................. 84
3.3 Archiving Play Dead; Real Time .................................................. 93
3.4 Conclusion ................................................ 97