

UvA-DARE (Digital Academic Repository)

Minding their own business? Firms and activists in the making of private labour regulation

Fransen, L.W.

Link to publication

Citation for published version (APA):

Fransen, L. W. (2010). Minding their own business? Firms and activists in the making of private labour regulation.

General rights

It is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), other than for strictly personal, individual use, unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

Disclaimer/Complaints regulations

If you believe that digital publication of certain material infringes any of your rights or (privacy) interests, please let the Library know, stating your reasons. In case of a legitimate complaint, the Library will make the material inaccessible and/or remove it from the website. Please Ask the Library: <https://uba.uva.nl/en/contact>, or a letter to: Library of the University of Amsterdam, Secretariat, Singel 425, 1012 WP Amsterdam, The Netherlands. You will be contacted as soon as possible.

About the author

Luc Fransen (1979) was born in Grave, the Netherlands. After his secondary school in Nijmegen he moved to Amsterdam to study political science at the University of Amsterdam. During his study he was an exchange student at the University of Sussex in the UK.

Before starting his PhD research at the Amsterdam School for Social science Research (ASSR), he was a junior lecturer for the political science department. He has taught courses on globalization, governance, Corporate Social Responsibility, International Relations Theory, international organizations and global activism.

During his PhD research Luc has been a visiting researcher at the Policy and Governance Program of the Forestry School at Yale University, as well as at the Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies of the European University Institute in Florence.

His work has been published in European Journal of Industrial Relations, Organization and Comparative Sociology.

Next to his PhD work, he has been involved in external research and expert assignments for Dutch developmental organizations.

Outside of the academic world, he enjoys rock music, football, running, television drama and novels.

Luc currently lives in Amsterdam.