SPOkes in the wheel: Structure, Process, and Outcomes of healthcare. An examination of the quality of the relationships among indicators of hospital and general practitioner performance
Ogbu, U.C.

Citation for published version (APA):

General rights
It is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), other than for strictly personal, individual use, unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

Disclaimer/Complaints regulations
If you believe that digital publication of certain material infringes any of your rights or (privacy) interests, please let the Library know, stating your reasons. In case of a legitimate complaint, the Library will make the material inaccessible and/or remove it from the website. Please Ask the Library: http://uba.uva.nl/en/contact, or a letter to: Library of the University of Amsterdam, Secretariat, Singel 425, 1012 WP Amsterdam, The Netherlands. You will be contacted as soon as possible.
Acknowledgments
It has been four long years since I started working on the thesis. I have had the fortune to work on an evolving topic that I find as interesting now as the day I started it. When I began my doctorate, I was warned by my supervisor that it was a lonely road. Now that it is done, I can tell him that it has been anything but lonely.

But first, I must thank him for opening my eyes to the world of the research. Onyebuchi, you made this European sojourn possible. You guided me through this project giving me the benefit of your own experiences as a PhD student. You recommended many books and pointed me in the right direction when I needed it most. You challenged me to aim high and provided critical feedback. I know your students at UCLA have an invaluable asset in you. Your friendship and mentorship are priceless.

Karien and Gert, I thank you for the time and energy you put into this project. Responding to the late night emails and providing constant feedback. Karien in particular as my topic is not the main thrust of your research. You both created the perfect environment for me to grow into the researcher I am today. Your varying backgrounds in social medicine and health services helped me think about my research from different angles. You both involved me in various projects as extensions of my thesis and in building other skills required in academia. Thank you for the opportunities. Gert you recently had a Sabbatical in New Zealand. Karien I hope you take yours soon. Thanks to Onyi and the two of you I have a excellent view of publishing and the field of research.

I would like to thank the members of my doctoral commission, Prof P.J.M. Bakker, Prof P. Groenewegen, Prof N.S. Klazinga, Prof P.B. Robben and Prof C. Wagner, for taking the time to review and assess my work.

To my co-authors, Lany, Agnes, Liset, and Dinny, I found your input and comments invaluable.

Henriëtte, Lydia, Michèle, and Noor, the three of you have mastered the bureaucracy, and have helped me navigate its treacherous waters. I never had a question that you could not answer.

The roommates I have had over the years Aletta, Wietske, Marieke, Linda, and Barbara. Our room was filled with laughter in-between all the hard work. Charles, I look forward to fun times with you in our new room. You have already played a significant role in the path I am taking. Aletta, Denise, Jeroen, Charlotte, Irene, Kiki, Mary, Mirjam, Juanita and Margot, I’ve spent a lot of time with all of you at and outside the office. Your friendship is overwhelming. Vera, Ines, Tanja, Michael, Conny, Karen, Hans, Jeanine, Jos, Guus, Bas, and Thomas, you have all been here from the very beginning. I’ve valued the discussions I had with you and your tips. The department has grown very large in last four years. To my many new colleagues, at the AMC and the RIVM, thanks for the words of encouragement as I spent more and more time at my computer finishing this off. Paul, my conversations with you about research in the last couple of months helped my thoughts crystallize. I look forward to putting our ideas to paper.

I have to thank my parents for constantly challenging me and giving me everything I needed to follow the path I have chosen. This is as much a testament to your efforts as it is mine. My brothers Arisi, Nwani, Agwu, Ogbonna, and Uche, and my sister-in-law Ekemini, I know I can always count on you. Akuh, we talked a lot about a PhD during the weekends I spent in London. I hope you will soon be sitting down to write your own acknowledgements in Australia. Emeka, Ugo, Ezinne, TFat, Uzo, and Chioma you kept in touch as often as you could to see how I was doing. Alisa, you have been a good friend and sounding board. A trip to California was always a good way to relax. When people have asked how difficult it is to move to a different country or city I have always said it is not where you are but who you know. I have made many friends along the way. Asli, Bram, Dara, Gabrielle, Kwaku, Lideke, Mehlica, Ona, Sabine, Sanna, and many others.

Hans, Karina, Ruud and Trix, you all had a hand in bringing me back to the Netherlands after my first trip in 2002. The warm memories you gave me were a positive influence. I would especially like to thank Karina for the translations in the early years. Christiane, your house in Belgium is like a second home to me.

My paranymphs, Daan and Melanie, the two of you are my oldest friends in Rotterdam and Amsterdam. It is my honor to have both of you by my side as I defend my thesis. Daan, knowing you and Steph has taken me all around the world. Your help in settling down to life in Rotterdam was immeasurable. Melanie, you opened your home to me on my first Christmas in Amsterdam. Since then we’ve had a lot of fun together. I am still thinking of a ‘good’ story for you.

Mieke it has been over two years since we met in rainy Essex. I have cherished every day. There is no superlative to describe you. You have given me renewed vigor and I don’t know if I could have done it without you. I look forward to many more years together.