Cover design, layout, and typesetting by the author. The text is set in Adobe Garamond by Robert Slimbach (1989) who redrew the sixteenth-century type designs by Claude Garamond; the italics of Adobe Garamond are based on work by Robert Granjon, an assistant to Claude Garamond. Headings and images are set in Neue Helvetica, developed at Linotype's daughter company D. Stempel AG (1983) by reworking Max Miedinger and Eduard Hoffmann's (1957) Helvetica. Mathematical symbols are set in the celebrated \TeX typeface Computer Modern by Donald Knuth (1986).
