Acknowledgements

Tom van Engers, my promoter, has been the instigator of this thesis. Without his encouragement, I would not have embarked upon this project. Also, he has worked hard to ensure that I kept looking beyond the borders of this project. Thanks, Tom.

Radboud Winkels, my co-promoter, has been my guide and sparring partner for this project. Without his assistance, many problems, big and small, would have taken a lot longer to get solved. Thanks, Radboud.

I would also like to thank four students who have contributed to my research as part of their own courses:

Marieke Franssen, for making an inventory of the different language patterns that are used for obligations and permissions;

Gijs Kruitbosch, for his work on programming the knowledge-based classifier for sentences in legal texts;

David de Bos, for running the first experiments with the knowledge-based classifier;

Kai Krabben, for running the experiments with the machine-learning classifier.
