Diagnostic tests for tubal pathology from a clinical and economic perspective

Verhoeve, H.R.

Citation for published version (APA):

General rights
It is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), other than for strictly personal, individual use, unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

Disclaimer/Complaints regulations
If you believe that digital publication of certain material infringes any of your rights or (privacy) interests, please let the Library know, stating your reasons. In case of a legitimate complaint, the Library will make the material inaccessible and/or remove it from the website. Please Ask the Library: https://uba.uva.nl/en/contact, or a letter to: Library of the University of Amsterdam, Secretariat, Singel 425, 1012 WP Amsterdam, The Netherlands. You will be contacted as soon as possible.
Contents

Chapter 1  Introduction and outline of thesis ................................................................. 7

Chapter 2  Diagnostic tests in Reproductive Medicine ....................................................... 21
  Reviews in Gynaecological and Perinatal Practice 2006, 6:20-25

Chapter 3  The value of medical history taking as risk indicator for tuboperitoneal pathology: a systematic review ................................................................. 35
  BJOG 2009, 116:612-625

Chapter 4  History of induced abortion and the risk of tubal pathology ....................... 61
  Reprod Biomed Online 2008, 16:304-307

Chapter 5  Identifying subfertile ovulatory women for timely tubal patency testing: a clinical decision rule based on medical history ......................................................... 69
  Human Reproduction 2007, 22:2685-92

Chapter 6  The capacity of hysterosalpingography and laparoscopy to predict natural conception ........................................................................................................ 87
  Human Reproduction 2011, 26:134-42

Chapter 7  Cost-effectiveness of tubal patency tests ....................................................... 105
  BJOG 2013, in press

Chapter 8  General discussion ......................................................................................... 127

Chapter 9  Summary ....................................................................................................... 139
  Samenvatting .............................................................................................................. 143

Chapter 10  Epilogue ..................................................................................................... 147

Addendum  List of co-authors and their affiliations .................................................... 157
  List of publications .................................................................................................. 158
  Dankwoord ........................................................................................................... 162
  Curriculum Vitae .................................................................................................. 164