

The Matlab files can be independently run and produce the figures as in the article “A relative approach to opinion formation”.

An explanation of the Matlab files is provided in the files itself. The corresponding .mat files are not included in the submission because of the large amount of .mat files. These files are available on request.

Authors of “A relative approach to opinion formation”
27 March 2021