

UNIVERSITY OF AMSTERDAM

UvA-DARE (Digital Academic Repository)

Following the news: Patterns of online and offline news consumption

Trilling, D.C.

Publication date
2013

Link to publication

Citation for published version (APA):

Trilling, D. C. (2013). Following the news: Patterns of online and offline news consumption. [Thesis, fully internal, Universiteit van Amsterdam].

General rights

It is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), other than for strictly personal, individual use, unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

Disclaimer/Complaints regulations

If you believe that digital publication of certain material infringes any of your rights or (privacy) interests, please let the Library know, stating your reasons. In case of a legitimate complaint, the Library will make the material inaccessible and/or remove it from the website. Please Ask the Library: <https://uba.uva.nl/en/contact>, or a letter to: Library of the University of Amsterdam, Secretariat, Singel 425, 1012 WP Amsterdam, The Netherlands. You will be contacted as soon as possible.

Acknowledgements

Acknowledgements

I wrote this dissertation – but I could not have done so without the help of many others. Too many to name all of them, but some I would like to thank in particular.

First of all, my supervisor Klaus Schönbach. Thank you for all your support, for thoughtful comments and constructive criticism in long discussions. Thank you for always being available when I needed your advice. Thanks to Edmund Lauf for your advice and guidance and for your practical perspective!

My paronyms, Tom Bakker and Mariella Trilling. Tom for great collaboration, endless fine-tuning of research designs, questionnaires and papers, and help whenever I needed it. We did (and still do!) so much stuff together that it is hard to imagine how it would have been without such a great colleague and friend. Mariella for lots of discussions, a great deal of proofreading (and consistently pointing me to my mistakes when writing in German), and for simply being there (but please, please, please stop calling me at 8 in the morning!). The rest of my family and especially my parents for always supporting me on my way.

There are so many former and present colleagues that even trying to mention everyone who has somehow helped and supported me without forgetting one is deemed to fail. Thanks to the members of the Political Communication & Journalism PhD Club for reading many versions of my papers and giving thorough feedback. Thanks to my roommates for quick feedback, coffee breaks and – together with all other colleagues from the department – for a nice working atmosphere.

I would also like to thank those who helped me during the data collection. Luzia Helfer for 6999 lines of SPSS-Syntax and for sparing me the job to rewrite the Dutch syntax for the Austrian dataset. Sarah Marquardt for being the best coordinator of a content analysis one could imagine. The team of Austrian coders for doing the dirty work.

And, maybe most important, a big thank you to all those who made this a great place not only to work, but also to live (and again, I will for sure forget a lot of you, if you feel you are missing, I'll compensate you with a beer at the next borrel): Pieterjan, Marijn, Sanne, Anouk, Rachid, Linda, Judith, Jelle, Mark, Rosa, Moniza, Miruna, Reza, the whole vrimibo-crew and all the others that I see during or after work – thanks for coffee, beer, conference trips, parties & gezelligheid!