Search engine freedom: on the implications of the right to freedom of expression for the legal governance of Web search engines

van Hoboken, J.V.J.

Publication date
2012

Citation for published version (APA):

General rights
It is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), other than for strictly personal, individual use, unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

Disclaimer/Complaints regulations
If you believe that digital publication of certain material infringes any of your rights or (privacy) interests, please let the Library know, stating your reasons. In case of a legitimate complaint, the Library will make the material inaccessible and/or remove it from the website. Please Ask the Library: https://uba.uva.nl/en/contact, or a letter to: Library of the University of Amsterdam, Secretariat, Singel 425, 1012 WP Amsterdam, The Netherlands. You will be contacted as soon as possible.
Table of Contents

CHAPTER 1: INTRODUCTION .............................................................................................................. 11

1.1 General Introduction .................................................................................................................... 12
1.2 Search engine governance and freedom of expression ................................................................. 13
1.3 General research question and scope of the study ....................................................................... 15
1.4 Structure and methodology ......................................................................................................... 17

PART I

CHAPTER 2: A SHORT HISTORY OF SEARCH ENGINES AND RELATED MARKET DEVELOPMENTS .......... 22

2.1 The Internet, the Web and the rise of navigational media ............................................................. 23
  2.1.1 Early visions of navigation in digitized information environments ............................................. 23
  2.1.2 The Internet: connecting the nodes ............................................................................................ 24
  2.1.3 The World Wide Web: Browsers, hyperlinks and spiders .......................................................... 27
2.2 The Web search engine ................................................................................................................ 29
  2.2.1 Web search engines: the birth of an industry: 1993-1998 ............................................................ 29
  2.2.2 The birth of Google .................................................................................................................. 31
  2.2.3 Consolidation of the Web search industry: 2000-2011 ............................................................... 34
  2.2.4 The Web search industry in Europe .......................................................................................... 35
  2.2.5 Alternatives and the future of Web search services ................................................................. 36

CHAPTER 3: WEB SEARCH ENGINES IN THE PUBLIC NETWORKED INFORMATION ENVIRONMENT .......... 40

3.1 Web search engines: basics .......................................................................................................... 41
  3.1.1 Definition .................................................................................................................................. 41
  3.1.2 Basic information flows ............................................................................................................ 41
  3.2.3 Basic Architecture .................................................................................................................... 42
3.2 Search engines in their context .................................................................................................... 44
  3.2.1 Search engines and the layered model for the networked communications environment .......... 44
  3.2.2 Search engines in the Internet communications ‘chain’ ............................................................ 46
3.3 Web search engines: a functional perspective .......................................................................... 49
  3.3.1 End-users: Information, Navigation and Transaction ............................................................... 49
  3.3.2 Search engines as forums for information providers and marketing platforms ....................... 53
3.4 Conclusion .................................................................................................................................. 54

PART II

CHAPTER 4: THE RIGHT TO FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION .................................................................... 57

4.1 Introduction .................................................................................................................................. 58
4.2 Freedom of expression theories ................................................................................................... 59
  4.2.1 Democracy .............................................................................................................................. 59
  4.2.2 The ‘marketplace of ideas’ or the ‘truth theory’ ...................................................................... 60
  4.2.3 Individual dignity, self-fulfillment and autonomy ................................................................. 61
4.3 FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION PROVISIONS

4.3.1. The right to freedom of expression in international human rights treaties

4.3.2. Article 10 ECHR and the EU Charter

4.3.3 The First Amendment

4.4 FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION DOCTRINE: FURTHER CLARIFICATIONS

4.4.1 The proper role of government under freedom of expression

4.4.2 The role of government under freedom of expression and different ‘means of communication’

4.4.3 What actions and which issues are (still) relevant under freedom of expression

4.4.4 Selection of the press, Internet access providers and libraries

CHAPTER 5: PRESS FREEDOM

5.1 INTRODUCTION

5.2 THE REGULATORY FRAMEWORK FOR THE PRESS

5.3 FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION AND THE PRESS

5.3.1 Status of the press under the right to freedom of expression

5.3.2. Article 10 ECHR and the press’ role in serving the interests of speakers and readers

5.3.3 Press freedom and the duties and responsibilities under Article 10

5.3.4 Press freedom and the permissibility of prior restraints

5.4 THE PRESS AS GATEKEEPER: EDITORIAL FREEDOM AND ACCESS TO THE PRESS

5.4.1. Background to the debate about access to the press

5.4.2 Access regulation and editorial freedom

5.5 THE PRESS AND ITS AUDIENCE: THE RIGHT TO BE INFORMED, THE ROLE OF ADVERTISING AND THE READER’S PRIVACY

5.5.1 Press freedom and the right to be informed

5.5.2 Press freedom and commercial communications

5.5.3 Press freedom and the reader’s privacy

5.6 CONCLUSION

CHAPTER 6: ISP FREEDOM

6.1 INTRODUCTION

6.2 REGULATION OF COMMUNICATIONS NETWORK PROVIDERS AND FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION

6.2.1. Background

6.2.2. Regulation: rationales, universal service and common carriage

6.3 FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION AND INTERNET ACCESS PROVIDERS

6.3.1 Status of Internet access providers under the right to freedom of expression

6.3.2. Access regulation and the right to freedom of expression

6.3.2 First Amendment

6.4 ISP INTERMEDIARY LIABILITY AND THE RIGHT TO FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION

6.4.1 Background

6.4.2 Intermediary liability: EU and the U.S

6.4.3 The DMCA safe harbors and the First Amendment

6.4.4 Communications Decency Act 230 and the First Amendment

6.4.5 EU Directive on Electronic Commerce and freedom of expression

6.4.6 Self-regulatory paradigm for ISPs in the EU and the right to freedom of expression

6.5 INTERNET FILTERING BY ACCESS PROVIDERS

6.5.1 Background

6.5.2 Internet filters and the right to freedom of expression