Understanding the rheology of yield stress materials

Paredes Rojas, J.F.

Citation for published version (APA):

General rights
It is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), other than for strictly personal, individual use, unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

Disclaimer/Complaints regulations
If you believe that digital publication of certain material infringes any of your rights or (privacy) interests, please let the Library know, stating your reasons. In case of a legitimate complaint, the Library will make the material inaccessible and/or remove it from the website. Please Ask the Library: http://uba.uva.nl/en/contact, or a letter to: Library of the University of Amsterdam, Secretariat, Singel 425, 1012 WP Amsterdam, The Netherlands. You will be contacted as soon as possible.
Acknowledgments

This trip called “writing a PhD thesis” started a bit longer than four years ago with an interview with the person that would become my supervisor and promotor: Prof. Daniel Bonn. I had up and downs during my PhD but Daniel always had the quality of saying what I needed to hear and not what I wanted to hear. During these four years, I had a lot fun doing research; therefore, I am extremely thankful to Daniel for his patience and his kind advising.

Additionally, I would like to thank my co-supervisor Noushine, for the nice conversations, great advice and for her patience, especially when teaching me how to write an article.

I would also like to thank Rudolf, Gerard and Peter for always having time to answer my questions when I entered their offices and said: “Do you have five minutes?”

Thanks a lot, my dear colleagues, for the hilarious moments we (always) had in our office: Sandra, Kinga, Janaina, Rojman, Dominik, Nick, Julie, Kate (or Carrie or Katie), and Mounir. I would also like to thank the rest of the members of the Soft Matter group of the Van der Waals-Zeeman Institute, for their help and nice talks: Marthe, Triet, Ahn, Marius, Henri, Bart, Daniel, Christiaan, Duc, Tahn, Katarina, Mehdi, Odile, and Bruce.

In the Institute of Physics there are some people with whom I sheared very nice moments: Kat, Richard, Maarten, Rens, Chris, Dolf, and Tom.

This thesis would not have been possible without the help of Rita, Ineke, Luuk, Anne-Marieke, and Joost. Thanks a lot for your willingness to always help me.

I would also like to thank the workshop of the University of Amsterdam, for the countless times they helped me with supplies and the preparation of set-ups.

135
Some people in the University of Amsterdam became more than just colleagues, they became friends, for example: Jurriaan, Nick, Linda, and Catarina. Jurrian you are my bfam and you know how important you are for me. Nick, what can I say? You are my paranymph and I could not think of a better person for doing that. Nick, thanks for all your help and your enthusiasm. My Portuguese girls Linda and Catarina, it has been a short time since we met, but I have had so much fun with you, that it some times feels as if I had met you zillion years ago; thanks for your friendship.

My dear Ana, my sister... cuántos momentos hemos pasado juntos, cuántas confesiones, cuántos momentos felices. Gracias por estar siempre allí, por tu sonrisa, por tus abrazos. En verdad, que no podría imaginarme la vida sin tu amistad.

Wieteke, we had so many special moments. I just love you and wherever you are, I know I can always count on you, the same way you can always count on me.

I would like to thank my family in the Netherlands for the pleasant and warm moments: Xena, Bo, Marco, Mier, Trudy, and Rob.

I would like to thank Pascal. Thank you schwetie for your support and for standing me. Thanks for loving me that much and for being there any single moment I needed you (well, except when skiing :-P).

Finally, the most important person in my life: Bertha, my mom. Madre, gracias por las palabras de entusiasmo, gracias por apoyarme en cada una de las decisiones que he tomado, por locas que hubieran parecido. Te amo!