Skepticism films: Knowing and doubting the world in contemporary cinema
Schmerheim, P.A.

Citation for published version (APA):
Schmerheim, P. A. (2013). Skepticism films: Knowing and doubting the world in contemporary cinema

General rights
It is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), other than for strictly personal, individual use, unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

Disclaimer/Complaints regulations
If you believe that digital publication of certain material infringes any of your rights or (privacy) interests, please let the Library know, stating your reasons. In case of a legitimate complaint, the Library will make the material inaccessible and/or remove it from the website. Please Ask the Library: http://uba.uva.nl/en/contact, or a letter to: Library of the University of Amsterdam, Secretariat, Singel 425, 1012 WP Amsterdam, The Netherlands. You will be contacted as soon as possible.
Table of Contents

Acknowledgements ............................................................................................................. 9

PART I: THINKING THROUGH CINEMA
1. Films as Configurations of Philosophical Thought ..................................................... 21
   1.1. From ‘Film as Art?’ to ‘Film as Philosophy?’ ..................................................... 21
   1.2. Why Justifying the Philosophical Significance of Film? ....................................... 24
   1.3. Philosophy of Film .............................................................................................. 27
       1.3.1. Films as Objects of Philosophical Thought .................................................. 27
       1.3.2. Experiencing Philosophy: The Philosophical Significance of Cinema .......... 30
   1.4. Film as Philosophy ............................................................................................. 33
       1.4.1. Films as Expressions of Philosophical Thought ........................................... 33
       1.4.2. The Philosophical Significance of Style ....................................................... 37
       1.4.3. Philosophy as Sketches of Landscapes ......................................................... 38
   1.5. Conclusion ........................................................................................................... 40

2. Cinematic Fictions as Configurations of Philosophical Thought ............................... 41
   2.1. Philosophical Narratives .................................................................................... 41
   2.2. Many Ways of Being Philosophical: Narratives as Philosophical Arguments ...... 42
       2.2.1 Narrative, Fiction, Knowledge ....................................................................... 42
       2.2.2 The Epistemic and the Artistic, the Philosophical and the Literary ............... 43
   2.3. The Philosophical Significance of Thought Experiments .................................. 46
       2.3.1 Thought Experiments as Philosophical Narratives ........................................ 46
       2.3.2 Being an Illustration: Thought Experiments as Philosophy ......................... 52
   2.4. Outlook: Films as (Con-)figurations of Philosophical Thought ......................... 56

3. Remediating Philosophy, or: The Media of Philosophical Thought ......................... 59
   3.1. Films as Food for Thought ................................................................................... 59
   3.2. Thinking with Hands .......................................................................................... 61
   3.3. Thinking Philosophically with Film: Terminological Obstacles ......................... 62
   3.4. Media of Philosophical Thought ........................................................................ 64
   3.5. Adapting Philosophy, Transmediality and Remediation ..................................... 66

PART II: SKEPTICISM IN FILM PHILOSOPHY
4. Varieties of Philosophical Skepticism: Knowledge, Acknowledgement and Trust 71
   4.1. Skepticism as Methodological Doubt ................................................................... 74
   4.2. Cavellian Skepticism: From Knowing to Acknowledging .................................... 77
   4.3. Triangulating Knowledge .................................................................................... 81
   4.4. The Metaphysical Speculation of Skepticist Thought Experiments .................. 86

5. A Moving Image of Skepticism? Philosophy’s Acknowledgement of Film .............. 91
   5.1. Illusion and Reality in Film History ..................................................................... 91
   5.2. Screening ‘Reality’ in Cinema ............................................................................ 94
   5.3. Film as Moving Image of Skepticism .................................................................. 96
   5.4. Cavell and the Skepticist Impetus of Classical Film Theory ............................... 99
   5.5. The Skeptic’s Desire for a View from Nowhere .................................................. 102
   5.6. Kracauer and the Redemption of Physical Reality .............................................. 105
   5.7. The Skeptic and ‘the’ Camera ............................................................................ 108
   5.8. Insufficiency vs. Incompleteness ....................................................................... 109
5.9 Skepticism and the Lebenswelt ................................................................. 113
5.10 Cavell Digitalised: Animated Film Characters and Digital Film .............. 114

6 PART IV: ANALYSING SKEPTICISM FILMS

6.1 Prelude: When the Bell Tolls ..................................................................... 123
6.2 Trust or Belief in the World in and Through Cinema ............................... 126
6.3 Cartesianism Revisited: Resonances between Cavell and Deleuze .......... 130
6.4 Four Ways of Restoring “la Croyance au Monde” .................................. 134
6.5 NUOVO CINEMA PARADISO Revisited: The Child’s Expulsion from the Paradise of Cinema .................................................................................. 137
6.6 “...Then It’s Done and You Can Gasp!” Digital Cinema and the Neuro-Image 140
6.7 Coda: Fantasy Ain’t a World Apart From Reality .................................. 146

PART III: SKEPTICISM FILMS

7 Varieties of Skepticism Films ........................................................................ 151
7.1 Introducing Skepticism Films ..................................................................... 151
7.2 Alternative Worlds in Skepticism Films ..................................................... 155
7.3 Family Resemblances: A Typology of Skepticism Films ............................ 157
7.4 Varieties of Knowledge in Skepticism Films ............................................. 163
7.5 Varieties of Skepticism Films ..................................................................... 164
7.5.1 External World Skepticism Films .......................................................... 164
7.5.2 Self-knowledge Skepticism Films ......................................................... 168
7.5.3 Other Minds Skepticism Films .............................................................. 173
7.6 Summary ................................................................................................. 176

8 Skepticism Films as Complex Narratives ....................................................... 179
8.1 Complex Narratives, Mind-Game Films and Skepticism Films ................ 179
8.2 Alternate and Possible Worlds: Skepticism Films as Multiple-Draft Narratives. 182
8.3 ‘What If?’ Questions, Multiple-draft Narratives, Forking-path Plots .......... 185

PART IV: ANALYSING SKEPTICISM FILMS

9 Tools for Philosophical Film Analysis ............................................................. 193
9.1 Philosophy and Film Analysis ................................................................... 193
9.2 The Status Quo of Philosophical Film Analysis ....................................... 196
9.3 Dimensions of (Philosophical) Film Analysis ......................................... 198

10 (Not) Knowing My World: External World Skepticism Films .................... 201
10.1 So you Wanna Be A Reality TV Show Star? On A Pervasive Illusion In Contemporary Media Society ......................................................... 201
10.2 Plot Summaries and Background Information ........................................ 203
    10.2.1 MATRIX .......................................................................................... 203
    10.2.2 THE THIRTEENTH FLOOR ............................................................... 206
    10.2.3 THE TRUMAN SHOW .................................................................... 207
10.3 Ontological Differences: Living on Different Planes of Reality ............... 209
10.4 Narrative Structure: Reality Revealed ..................................................... 214
    10.4.1 What Is So Bad About Living In A Non-real Environment? ............. 214
    10.4.2 Glitches in the Matrix ...................................................................... 216
    10.4.3 Encounters with the Boundaries of the World ................................. 217
    10.4.4 A Double Film Audience: Film Reception in THE TRUMAN SHOW ..... 219
10.5 Aspects of Style ....................................................................................... 224
TABLE OF CONTENTS

10.6 Visual Narration – Philosophical Uses of Colour ........................................... 224
   10.6.1 Framing Truman’s World ........................................................................ 229
10.7 Preliminary Summary ...................................................................................... 232

11 Not Knowing My Self, or: Being One’s Own Evil Deceiver .............................. 233
   11.1 Personal Identity .......................................................................................... 234
   11.2 Being One’s Own Evil Deceiver: ABRE LOS OJOS and VANILLA SKY .......... 237
   11.3 Shared Dreams and Illusions: INCEPTION ................................................. 244
   11.4 Multiple Personalities and Virtual Identities: MOON ................................. 248
   11.5 Conclusion .................................................................................................. 251

Coda. From Doubt to Acknowledgement, or: The Philosophical Significance of Skepticism Films revisited ............................................................... 253

Bibliography and Filmography ............................................................................. 261
   Literature .......................................................................................................... 261
   Films .................................................................................................................. 279
   Other references ............................................................................................... 285
   Sequence Protocols .......................................................................................... 287

   English summary .............................................................................................. 304
   Nederlandse samenvatting .............................................................................. 306