Masters of war: state, capital, and military enterprise in the Dutch cycle of accumulation (1600-1795)
Brandon, P.

Citation for published version (APA):
Brandon, P. (2013). Masters of war: state, capital, and military enterprise in the Dutch cycle of accumulation (1600-1795)
List of charts and tables

Charts
Chart 2.1 Combined income of the Amsterdam Admiralty Board, 1681-1794 (guilders)
Chart 2.2 Combined expenditure of the Amsterdam Admiralty Board, 1681-1794 (guilders)
Chart 2.3 Operations and upkeep as percentage of expenditure Amsterdam Admiralty Board
Chart 3.1 Warships built at the Amsterdam Admiralty shipyard, 1661-1780
Chart 3.2 Return ships built at the VOC-shipyard, 1661-1780
Chart 3.3 Expenditure on wages by the Amsterdam Admiralty Board, 1775-1788 (guilders)
Chart 4.1 Holland's monthly ex-ante expenses on troop payments, 1644-1785 (guilders)
Chart 4.2 Troop payments as percentage of ex-ante military expenditure, 1644-1785
Chart 4.3 Money received by Gebhardt through letters of exchange, February 1702-August 1704 (three monthly moving averages)
Chart 4.4 Interest payment received by Gebhardt over advances during the Nine Years’ War

Tables
Table 1.1 Federal representation in the five Admiralty Boards
Table 1.2 Political ties of members of the Admiralty Boards
Table 1.3 Wealth and connections of members of the Amsterdam Admiralty Board
Table 1.4 Revolutionary crises in the Dutch Republic
Table 2.1 Strength and composition of the Dutch fleet, 1653
Table 2.2 Costs of hiring fifteen merchant-men, 1642 (in guilders)
Table 2.3 Contributions of VOC to Amsterdam Admiralty Board (1681-1794)
Table 2.4 VOC warfare in Asia (1602-1785)
Table 2.5 Estimate of WIC income, expenditure and damage done to the Spanish and Portuguese, 1623-1636 (millions of guilders), based on figures of WIC-director Johannes de Laet
Table 2.6 State subsidies for the WIC in Brazil, 1645-1651
Table 2.7 Convoying ships and cruisers sent out by the Amsterdam Admiralty Board, 1738
Table 2.8 Cost and employment of the navy according to the war budget of 1628 (excluding Friesland Admiralty Board)
Table 2.9 Armature of Dutch merchant-men present in the Mediterranean, December 1664
Table 2.10 Merchant fleets convoyed in the Baltic area by Dutch squadrons, 1705-1711 (east- and westbound)
Table 2.11 Estimated values of goods protected by convoy of 25 July 1709
Table 2.12 Total incomes of Amsterdam, Zeeland, Rotterdam, and Northern Quarter Admiralty Boards, 1680-1795 (millions of guilders)
Table 2.13 Total expenditures of Amsterdam, Zeeland, Rotterdam, and Northern Quarter Admiralty Boards, 1680-1795 (millions of guilders)
Table 2.14 Ex-ante income and expenditure of the five Admiralty Boards, 1654 (guilders)
Table 3.1 Amsterdam naval expenditure on selected goods, 1681-1789 (millions of guilders)
Table 3.2 Largest wood-suppliers of the Amsterdam Admiralty Board, March 1778-December 1790 (thousands of guilders)
Table 3.3 Distribution of suppliers to the Amsterdam and Zeeland Admiralty Boards
Table 3.4 Number of ships built per decade by the Amsterdam Admiralty shipyard, Rotterdam Admiralty shipyard, and the VOC shipyard, 1661-1780
Table 3.5 Workers and supervisors at the Amsterdam naval shipyard and storehouse
Table 3.6 Sums paid on wages by the receiver general of the Rotterdam Admiralty Board, selected years (guilders)
Table 3.7 Wages of different categories of laborers at the naval shipyard, 1781
Table 3.8 Yearly income of bosses at the Amsterdam naval shipyard in the eighteenth century (based on 226 working days)
Table 4.1 Gebhardt’s expenses on troop payments for a number of selected years
Table 4.2 Gebhardt’s ten largest creditors, 1698-1705