UvA-DARE (Digital Academic Repository)

From employee to retiree: Life histories and retirement in the Netherlands

Damman, M.

Citation for published version (APA):

General rights
It is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), other than for strictly personal, individual use, unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

Disclaimer/Complaints regulations
If you believe that digital publication of certain material infringes any of your rights or (privacy) interests, please let the Library know, stating your reasons. In case of a legitimate complaint, the Library will make the material inaccessible and/or remove it from the website. Please Ask the Library: https://uba.uva.nl/en/contact, or a letter to: Library of the University of Amsterdam, Secretariat, Singel 425, 1012 WP Amsterdam, The Netherlands. You will be contacted as soon as possible.
Table of contents

1. General introduction ........................................................................................................... 11
   1.1. Introduction .................................................................................................................. 11
   1.2. Societal context .......................................................................................................... 12
       1.2.1. Life course changes in the Netherlands ................................................................. 13
       1.2.2. Population aging in the Netherlands ................................................................. 15
       1.2.3. The changing work and retirement landscape in the Netherlands ......................... 16
   1.3. Previous research on earlier life experiences and retirement ....................................... 21
   1.4. Theoretical considerations .......................................................................................... 24
   1.5. Research aim and contributions .................................................................................. 26
   1.6. Research methods: NIDI Work and Retirement Panel data ........................................ 29
   1.7. Outline of dissertation ............................................................................................... 31

2. Late-career work disengagement: The role of proximity to retirement and career experiences ........................................................................................................... 33
   2.1. Introduction .................................................................................................................. 33
   2.2. Theory and hypotheses ............................................................................................... 36
       2.2.1. Anticipated future: Is there a preretirement work disengagement process? ........... 36
       2.2.2. Lived past: How do career-related experiences affect late-career work disengagement? 37
   2.3. Methods ....................................................................................................................... 39
       2.3.1. Sample .................................................................................................................. 39
       2.3.2. Measures .............................................................................................................. 40
       2.3.3. Analyses .............................................................................................................. 43
   2.4. Results .......................................................................................................................... 45
       2.4.1. Cross-sectional models: Explaining differences in late-career work disengagement ........................................................................................................... 45
       2.4.2. Panel models: Explaining changes in late-career work disengagement over time ...... 46
   2.5. Discussion ..................................................................................................................... 49

3. The impact of mid-life educational, work, health, and family experiences on men’s early retirement ......................................................................................................................... 53
   3.1. Introduction ................................................................................................................... 53
   3.2. Theory and hypotheses ............................................................................................... 56
       3.2.1. Educational experiences ....................................................................................... 56
       3.2.2. Work experiences ................................................................................................. 57
       3.2.3. Health experiences ............................................................................................... 58
       3.2.4. Family experiences ............................................................................................... 59
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>3.3. Methods</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.3.1. Sample</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.3.2. Measures</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.3.3. Analyses</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.4. Results</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.4.1. Explaining retirement intentions by mid-life experiences</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.4.2. Explaining retirement behavior by mid-life experiences</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.5. Discussion</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>4. Women’s retirement intentions and behavior: The role of childbearing and marital histories</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.1. Introduction</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.2. Background</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.2.1. Childbearing, child rearing, and retirement timing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.2.2. Marital histories and retirement timing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.3. Method</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.3.1. Sample</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.3.2. Measures</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.3.3. Analyses</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.4. Results</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.4.1. Retirement intentions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.4.2. Retirement behavior</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.5. Discussion</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>5. Missing work after retirement: The role of life histories in the retirement adjustment process</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.1. Introduction</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.2. Theoretical background</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.2.1. Work history</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.2.2. Health history</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.2.3. Family history</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.2.4. The role of gender</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.3. Design and methods</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.3.1. Sample</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.3.2. Measures</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.3.3. Analyses</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.4. Results</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.4.1. Life history experiences</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.4.2. The role of resources and transition characteristics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.5. Discussion</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Table of contents

6. Summary and discussion .................................................................................. 119
   6.1. Background and research question .......................................................... 119
   6.2. Summary of empirical findings ................................................................. 120
       6.2.1. Preretirement process: Late-career work disengagement ............... 120
       6.2.2. Retirement transitions: Intended and actual retirement timing .......... 122
       6.2.3. Postretirement process: Adjustment to the loss of the work role .......... 125
   6.3. Overall conclusions ................................................................................. 127
       6.3.1. Studying different phases of retirement transitions ......................... 129
       6.3.2. Examining the role of earlier life experiences in various life spheres .... 130
       6.3.3. Paying attention to linking mechanisms ............................................ 132
   6.4. Societal implications ................................................................................ 135
   6.5. Limitations and future research ............................................................... 138

References .......................................................................................................... 143

Nederlandse samenvatting (summary in Dutch) .................................................. 159

Curriculum Vitae ................................................................................................ 171