

Supporting Information Figure 2. The TIC values of the QC for all batches before (red cross) and after QC correction (green circle). The blue dotted line depicts the linear trend that was calculated based on the three QC samples for each batch. The batches are separated by the vertical black dotted lines. As only 3 QC samples were included in each batch, at best linear trends could be estimated (dotted blue line) that form the base of the QC correction.

