Essays in applied dynamic microeconometrics
Kastoryano, S.P.

Citation for published version (APA):
Kastoryano, S. P. (2013). Essays in applied dynamic microeconometrics Amsterdam: Rozenberg

General rights
It is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), other than for strictly personal, individual use, unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

Disclaimer/Complaints regulations
If you believe that digital publication of certain material infringes any of your rights or (privacy) interests, please let the Library know, stating your reasons. In case of a legitimate complaint, the Library will make the material inaccessible and/or remove it from the website. Please Ask the Library: http://uba.uva.nl/en/contact, or a letter to: Library of the University of Amsterdam, Secretariat, Singel 425, 1012 WP Amsterdam, The Netherlands. You will be contacted as soon as possible.
Acknowledgements

It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, it was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness, it was the epoch of belief, it was the epoch of incredulity...

Charles Dickens, A Tale of Two Cities

The words of Charles Dickens encapsulate well this journey from the day I set foot into Amsterdam, the city I love so dearly, until the day I completed my PhD. A milestone which would never have been reached had it not been for the people I met along the way. First and foremost, I owe my gratitude to my supervisors. To Joop, I will never forget your helping hand in a time of great need. Nor the words of wisdom and kindness that constantly guided and supported me throughout the PhD. To Bas, knowingly or not, you managed to amalgamate the perfect approach to push me to the fullest. You made me aspire to bring myself to your level while never making me feel diminished. I sincerely hope to continue learning from you in current and future projects. I can not thank the both of them enough.

I would also like to thank my colleagues at the University of Mannheim, in particular Gerard van den Berg, for allowing me to finish my PhD in the lead up to joining their faculty. I look eagerly forward to this next step in such a stimulating research environment. I thank Wouter den Haan who, as well as giving me support in difficult times, gave me the perfect example of how it is possible to combine great research with inspiring teaching. Thanks to Richard Blundell for inviting me to visit University College London and the C. Willems Stichting grant which made it financially possible. I would also like to thank the Tinbergen Institute and the Huygens scholarship for allowing me to obtain the highest level of graduate education.

And yet there are so many more to thank. It is impossible to distinguish friends from colleagues. To Hessel, Erik, Adam, Liesbeth, Jose, Monique, Nadine, Noemie and all the other members at the UvA I thank you for the discussions, the fun and the constant reminder to make econometrics relevant. Thanks to Jonneke, Zoltan, Marloes, Xiaoming, Pieter, Pierre, Erik, Maarten and everyone at the VU Amsterdam for the engaging environment. You brought the ‘dynamic’ part into this thesis. To Conny, thanks for the valuable feedback (nose). Thanks to Marc, Rafail, Sjoerd and the O&M group at the Belastingdienst for their dedication and patience. We overcame some big challenges together and I hope we can bring our collaboration to full fruition in the future.

Thanks to Eva, Lerby, Olivier, Amanda, Marcel (Brasilian) and many others for the great times. To Marcel (Belgian) for valuing the simple things. To Cees and Chandra for showing me such tenderness. To Yas for the wild ride of an experience. To Bonam and Raphie for bringing the Bijlmer flavor to De Boelelaan. To Rei for emphasizing my noble side. To Kyle for nursing me through that last part. To Christel for such a classy female touch and graceful friendship. To lovely Lygia whose smile will never fail at melting away my worries. To Laszlo and Sarah for opening a whole world of art and adventure to me.

Of course, after the long days of research, there is nothing better to snap you back to reality than someone trying to break your arm or choke you out. To Agua, my BJJ team in the Bijlmer where color, creed, money and religion have no place. You hold a precious thing in that location, please cherish it. And to you and the Kenamju crew, thank you for reminding me that I should always get back up and keep on going.

To Thomy, oh man, I don’t have the words to thank you. You have been there through thick and thin, a friend as true as I could have. You brought me back to being a normal person in the early times and without you I really don’t know if I could have dealt with it all in the final periods.

But I would not be who I am today were it not for the cornerstone in my life, my family. To my older brothers. Michael’s poise, cunning, and fundamental curiosity of how things work. Daniel’s originality, creativity, and ability to find symmetry and beauty in the most unexpected things. They will probably never realize how much I look up to the both of them.

And last, to my mother, my guiding angel. It is thanks to her that I will never be able to take life for granted.