Compliance as process: Work safety in the Chinese construction industry
Li, N.

Citation for published version (APA):
Li, N. (2016). Compliance as process: Work safety in the Chinese construction industry

General rights
It is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), other than for strictly personal, individual use, unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

Disclaimer/Complaints regulations
If you believe that digital publication of certain material infringes any of your rights or (privacy) interests, please let the Library know, stating your reasons. In case of a legitimate complaint, the Library will make the material inaccessible and/or remove it from the website. Please Ask the Library: http://uba.uva.nl/en/contact, or a letter to: Library of the University of Amsterdam, Secretariat, Singel 425, 1012 WP Amsterdam, The Netherlands. You will be contacted as soon as possible.

UvA-DARE is a service provided by the library of the University of Amsterdam (http://dare.uva.nl)
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Robert Cap, a famous war correspondent in the world, once said, 'If your pictures aren't good enough, you're not close enough'. The research in this book is an attempt at 'getting closer'. Thus, I would first of all like to express my gratitude to those people who helped me gain access to the field making this research possible. I would like to thank Yonggang Wang, Qiang Zong, and Yanhong Wu who introduced me to contacts at the regulatory agencies at the provincial to the district level. I would also like to thank Hao Huang and Zhi Xie who helped me meet my first contacts with construction businesses in M city, China. I would like to extend my heartfelt gratitude to the chief leaders of the two district safety regulatory agencies studied, as well as the chief managers of the three construction projects studied. They opened the doors for my visits. Regrettably, on account of academic ethics, all cases in this book have been anonymized, and I cannot recognize them by name here. Also my warmest thanks to the people working at the two regulatory agencies and at the three construction projects. They welcomed me and gave me the opportunity to stay with them, talk with them, and learn from their experiences. Although I cannot recognize by name, I extend my sincerest gratitude.

My great thanks also goes to my three PhD supervisors: Prof. Benjamin van Rooij, Prof. Wim Huisman, and Dr. Jeroen van der Heijden. I cannot imagine what my research would be like without their support. My most sincere thanks to Benjamin. As a researcher, he is talented, energetic and full of imagination. Over the years, he has brought so much spark that has enlightened me a lot. As a supervisor, he is skilful and responsible. Particular thanks for his patience and tolerance for my slow progress in research as well as in writing, like a tortoise. Also thanks for the funding from his VENI project, which made my research possible. I would like to express my sincere gratitude to Wim. Thanks for his ready consent to be one of my supervisors. He is a wise and elegant scholar. He has the capacity to explain complicated things in a simple way, which impacted my own thinking. I am also very grateful for Jeroen. I am deeply impressed by his clear logic and insightful remarks on my writing. He always has some unique viewpoint as well as thinking style. I often ponder if it comes from his particular background in both scientific and legal fields. I feel lucky that he is one of my supervisors.

My sincere gratitude to the members of my PhD committee: Prof. Dr. E. Verhulp, Dr. R.J.S. Schwitters, Prof. Dr. S.R. Landsberger, Dr. G.C. Gray, and Prof. Dr. P. Mascini. Thank you all for reading through my thesis and kindly making comments and providing your evaluation. A particular thank you to Prof. Verhulp and Prof. Mascini who provided me with many useful insights at the beginning of my PhD research.

I also extend tremendous gratitude to my colleagues at the Faculty of Law, Uva. Special thanks to Eline Scheper, Inge de Bruyne, Yu Chen, Huiqi Yan, Yunmei Wu, Annemieke van Dool, Yedan Li, Ding Qi, Haomiao Du, William Guo. They offered me so much kind help and endless friendship. I wish them happy lives forever. I would also like to thank the many staff at the university. My research life might have met countless troubles if not for their help.

My most heartfelt gratitude goes to my family. All of you are always with me, whatever I do, wherever I am. A particular thanks to Qiliang, the best family member, lover and friend.