Acknowledgements

While writing this dissertation, I benefitted greatly from the support of many people.

First and foremost, I would like to thank Roel and Massimo. Our Friday discussions and frequent e-mail exchanges were an infinite source of new ideas, fresh perspectives and ways forward. Without your excellent supervision I would not be writing these acknowledgements today. I would also like to thank Frank for his contributions, which greatly strengthened the thesis.

Thanks to my colleagues at the Ministry of Finance for stimulating discussions, which contributed enormously to my understanding of economics. Working with colleagues at the World Bank and the European Commission, and currently at the IMF, has also been extremely enriching. I thank colleagues from the Dutch debt management office for their insightful comments on my work.

Fridays at the UvA were always enjoyable thanks to the good company at the Macro and International Economics research group. Thanks to Christian, Damiaan, Dirk, Egle, Franc, Gabriele, Ioana, Jante, John, Julien, Kostas, Moutaz, Nicoleta, Oana, Ron, Rui, Rutger, Swapnil, Ward and Zina.

Thanks to my friends, who made sure I enjoyed life outside of the PhD.

Thanks to my parents, Ton en Marienke, for their unconditional support, and to my brothers Jeroen, Ruben en Maarten.

Most importantly, thanks to Marit. I could always count on your unwavering love and support, despite my constant over-promising on the time needed to work on the PhD and my under-delivering on time spent together during countless evenings and weekends. The completion of this PhD coincides with the start of our adventure in the United States. I could not be more excited to share this adventure, and many more to come, with you.

Co-author List

- Chapter 2, entitled “Cross-border auction cycle effects of sovereign bond issuance in the euro area” is joint work with Prof. dr. R.M.W.J. Beetsma, Universiteit van Amsterdam, Prof. dr. M. Giuliadori, Universiteit van Amsterdam, and Prof. dr. F.C.J.M. de Jong, Tilburg University. I (Jesper Hanson) compiled the data, performed the empirical analysis, contributed to developing the theoretical model and wrote up the results. I was involved in rewriting and editing the chapter. The chapter is forthcoming in the Journal of Money, Credit and Banking. It previously circulated as CEPR Discussion Paper No. DP11122.
- Chapter 3, entitled “Bid-to-cover and yield changes around public debt auctions in the euro area” is joint work with Prof. dr. R.M.W.J. Beetsma, Universiteit van Amsterdam, Prof. dr. M. Giuliadori, Universiteit van Amsterdam, and Prof. dr. F.C.J.M. de Jong, Tilburg University. I performed the empirical analysis, contributed to developing the theoretical model and wrote up the results. I was involved in rewriting and editing the chapter. The chapter was published in the Journal of Banking and Finance, Volume 87, Pages 118-134. It previously circulated as CEPR Discussion Paper No. DP11932 and as European Central Bank Working Paper No 2056.
- Chapter 4, entitled “The maturity of sovereign bond issuance in the euro area” is joint work with Prof. dr. R.M.W.J. Beetsma, Universiteit van Amsterdam, Prof. dr. M. Giuliadori, Universiteit van Amsterdam, and Prof. dr. F.C.J.M. de Jong, Tilburg University. I performed the empirical analysis, developed the basic version of the model and wrote up the results. I was involved in rewriting and editing the chapter.
