First of all, I would like to express my deepest gratitude to Kees Hengeveld for his enthusiastic and inspiring guidance. During the past years we spent countless hours discussing and solving the problems that I encountered with the result that this book has greatly benefited from his insights. Without his guidance, help, and especially his flexibility this book would not have appeared in its current form.

I am most grateful to Pieter Muysken, who first made it possible for me to work in a stimulating environment at the Department of General Linguistics of the University of Amsterdam. I thank him for his continuous encouragement, ideas, and enthusiastic support through the years.

Furthermore I would like to thank Ineke Jongen and Hein van der Voort for their endless support, both logistic and otherwise.

Many thanks are also due to the following persons for all sorts of help, their efforts on behalf of the data collection, discussion, etc.: Willem Adelaar, Dik Bakker, Peter Bakker, Marien van den Berg, Machtelt Bolkestein, Eithne Carlin, Bernard Comrie, Anna Crevels, Coby Crevels-de Jonge, Jan Crevels Jr., Stefan Elders, Nick Evans, Ad Foolen, Marianne Graumitz, Martine Haak, Martin Haase, Peter Kahrel, Simon van de Kerke, Tineke van der Kooij, Robert MacDougall, Bill McGregor, Maarten Mous, Masha Polinsky, Rodie Risselada, Jan Rijkhoff, Albert Rijksbaron, Ventura Salazar García, Johan van der Auwera, Gerry Wanders, and Jos Weitenberg.

Without the enormous help of the numerous native speakers and specialized linguists, the project of which this book is the result would have been doomed to fail. I cannot thank them enough for their generosity in providing me with valuable information on the expression of concession in their respective languages, and their patience while helping me with the interpretation of the data. I can say that it has been an utterly satisfying experience for me to work with all of them and I can only hope that the feeling is mutual. The names of the speakers and specialists are listed alphabetically by language.

Parts of this research have been presented at the VIIth International Conference on Functional Grammar (Cordoba, September 1996), the Second Meeting of the Association for Linguistic Typology (Eugene, September 1997), the Functional Grammar Colloquium (Amsterdam, November 1997), the 1998 TiN-dag (Utrecht, January 1998), the Cognitive and Discourse Perspectives on Cause, Condition, Concession and Contrast Workshop (Konstanz, October 1998), and at the University of Tübingen (February 1999). I would like to thank the respective audiences for their comments and remarks. In addition, parts of Chapters 3, 7, and 9 have resulted in two publications (Crevels 1998, fc.).
