Curriculum Vitae

Jennifer Dyer was born in Toronto, Canada, on January 9, 1970, and finished her secondary education in Ontario, Canada, in June 1988. She completed her Bachelor of Arts, Honours, with a double major in English Literature and Cultural Studies in 1993, a Master's of Philosophy in Humanities in 1995, and a Master's of Arts in Theory and Criticism in 1997. The focus of her studies in all three degrees was on modernism, namely modernist art and culture, and theories of modernism, with a minor concentration of philosophical aesthetics. She lectures in the Master's of Philosophy in Humanities programme at Memorial University of Newfoundland and Labrador, Canada, and is a part-time lecturer in the Memorial University's English Department. Jennifer also participates in conferences and exhibitions with the Art Gallery of Newfoundland and Labrador. She has been studying for her doctoral degree since September 1998 at ASCA (The Amsterdam School for Cultural Analysis) and held a Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada doctoral fellowship from April 1999 until April 2002. The Council has granted her a post-doctoral award to study new media art.
