Malaria and HIV in pregnancy, and effects on the infant in western Kenya van Eijk, A.M.

Citation for published version (APA):
van Eijk, A. M. (2002). Malaria and HIV in pregnancy, and effects on the infant in western Kenya s.n

General rights
It is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), other than for strictly personal, individual use, unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

Disclaimer/Complaints regulations
If you believe that digital publication of certain material infringes any of your rights or (privacy) interests, please let the Library know, stating your reasons. In case of a legitimate complaint, the Library will make the material inaccessible and/or remove it from the website. Please Ask the Library: http://uba.uva.nl/en/contact, or a letter to: Library of the University of Amsterdam, Secretariat, Singel 425, 1012 WP Amsterdam, The Netherlands. You will be contacted as soon as possible.
Acknowledgements

Studies like those described in this thesis are a community effort, and in this case the effort of an international community. I would like to thank all participating clients and their children in Kenya for their time and patience. I would like to thank all staff in Kenya, in the hospital in Kisumu, and in Kisian, for their help.

In particular I would like to mention the following persons to express my gratitude:

In England and the States:
First and above all: Feiko ter Kuile and Penny Phillips-Howard. Their enthusiasm, encouragement, open ear, interest, and professional advise have greatly helped me to develop and still do. Anja Terlouw, because she has been such a good partner in struggle.

In Kisumu:
John Ayisi, for sharing office, data and papers for years. Dr Juliana for her straightforward approach. Johnson Awino for his schedules and dedication. Jean Muhanji for her never ending patience in filing forms and cleaning computer files. Kim Lindblade because of her questioning mind. Larry Slutsker for helping me to finish.

In Nairobi:
Kevin de Cock for assisting the students he inherited in a very encouraging way.

In Amsterdam:
Professor Piet Kager for giving me the opportunity to return to Kenya, and for his never ending belief that one day it would happen.

In Atlanta:
Rick Steketee and Monica Parise whose ideas and help have been so supportive and pleasant. Meghna Desai, whose life spirit I greatly admire.

In Geneva:
Bernard Nahlen for giving me the chance to come to Kenya and expand my knowledge.

At home:
Charles, who changed my life drastically and made me return to the tropics. Dan, who makes me stay in the tropics. My family whose support and love is unconditional and make me feel the luckiest person in the world.