From the Amazonriver to the Amazon molly and back again

Poeser, F.N.

Citation for published version (APA):
Poeser, F. N. (2003). From the Amazonriver to the Amazon molly and back again. Amsterdam: IBED, Universiteit van Amsterdam.

General rights
It is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), other than for strictly personal, individual use, unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

Disclaimer/Complaints regulations
If you believe that digital publication of certain material infringes any of your rights or (privacy) interests, please let the Library know, stating your reasons. In case of a legitimate complaint, the Library will make the material inaccessible and/or remove it from the website. Please Ask the Library: https://uba.uva.nl/en/contact, or a letter to: Library of the University of Amsterdam, Secretariat, Singel 425, 1012 WP Amsterdam, The Netherlands. You will be contacted as soon as possible.
Acknowledgements

Een woord van dank waar woorden tekort schieten. Mijn studie zou onmogelijk zijn geweest zonder de stille, maar volhardende steun van mijn moeder en het devies van mijn vader: “Moed en Vertrouwen.” Ik hoop dat dit proefschrift jullie inspanningen waard is.

Ook dank ik Nico, Willem, Bert, Cor en Co omdat zij meer dan gewoon familie zijn (hoewel dat niet altijd is gebleken uit mijn aanwezigheid...), en vooral Marian is altijd meer dan een zus geweest.

A warm and special thank goes out for Dr Isaäc Isbrücker. Not only did he give his much needed advise on taxonomical matters and guided me through the forest of printed confusion, but I thank him also for his never-ending faith in my work.

I want to thank Dr Han Nijssen for providing the facilities for this study and for his tolerance for my frequent visits to his department, disrupting his daily routines. An equally sincere thanks is extended to my promoter Prof. Dr Frederick Schram, who somehow found the time and energy to supervise my efforts, to break down the restraints of ichthyology and directed me towards a more biological and more general scientific course.

This thesis would be unreadable without the support of Ruud Wildekamps drawings of the species, and Jan van Arkels abilities to digitize all illustrations so beautifully. Thank you both for this!

My efforts would have been severely more difficult, if not impossible, without Mine, my little princess, who made me believe.

Helen Mulder, I thank you for telling me the only way to go forth is to go back, back to the university in pursuit of the truth about guppies.

I thank my friends from Poecilia Nederland, especially Kees de Jong and Brian Kabbes for their keen observations in the field, the latter together with his wife Simone Kabbes, providing me with reliable and detailed information of molly-life. They were not afraid to end some molly-life in order to provide the museum with physical evidence of their exploits. I thank my friend Michael Kempkes for sharing his insights on guppies. Latsy Niary is thanked for sharing his achievements with micropoeciliids with me.

Of the many friends that have been supporting me the last 16 years, I can only mention a few: Peter v.d. Kroef, Nanette Winnubst, Axel Roest, Hans Heerooms, René Laterveer, Ivar Manuel. They helped me through the all landscapes that spacetime directed me through, in which process I was meeting people and losing sight of them as I went along. May I be forgiven if I forgot some-one that I should have mentioned here. I am also thankful to the school directors of the Vellesan College in IJmuiden and the Berlage Lyceum in Amsterdam who gave my enough room to develop further in this extracurricular career.

The whole project, comprising about 16 years of study, was pushed and monitored continuously by my paranymphs, Marcellino Rozemeijer and Michel Koper, involving discussions and other friendly talks. May they always be responsible for drinks and laughter.

This work would have been much more difficult without the background support of The Cure and The Beatles.