List of Abbreviations

1 Introduction

1.1 E-Science Paradigm ................................................. 2
  1.1.1 Definition and Characterization of E-Science Domains and Applications ........................................ 3
  1.1.2 Target Problem Domains and Applications – Motivation ...... 5
1.2 Virtual Laboratory Solution ......................................... 9
  1.2.1 Support Environments for Scientific Experimentations ...... 10
  1.2.2 Virtual Laboratory ................................................. 11
1.3 Research Objectives .................................................. 14
1.4 Research Approach .................................................... 16
1.5 Base Projects .......................................................... 19
  1.5.1 The VLAM-G Project ................................................ 19
  1.5.2 Other Related Projects ............................................. 22
1.6 Structure of the Thesis ................................................ 23

2 Analysis of Requirements for Virtual Laboratories 25

2.1 Approach for Requirements Analysis ................................... 26
2.2 Virtual Laboratory Characterization ...................................... 26
2.3 Use Case Analysis ........................................................ 33
  2.3.1 Scientists Use Cases ............................................... 34
  2.3.2 Domain Experts Use Cases ......................................... 38
  2.3.3 Tool Developers Use Cases .......................................... 39
  2.3.4 Administrators Use Cases ........................................... 40
  2.3.5 ICT Developers Use Cases .......................................... 41
2.4 Classification of Requirements .......................................... 42
2.5 Analysis of User Requirements .......................................... 44
  2.5.1 Scientists Requirements ........................................... 44
  2.5.2 Domain Experts Requirements ...................................... 47
  2.5.3 Tool Developers Requirements ..................................... 48
  2.5.4 Administrators Requirements ....................................... 48
2.6 Analysis of Base ICT Infrastructure Requirements .................... 49
