Acknowledgements

“Whoever is not grateful to the people, he is not grateful to Allah”

(Prophet Muhammad PBUH as reported by Abu Sa'eed in Jami' At-Tirmidhi 1955)

Alhamdulillah, all praise to Allah SWT, God the Almighty, for empowering me to finish my PhD trajectory. I am thankful for the LPDP, the Ministry of Finance Republic of Indonesia for financing the whole of my PhD journey. I am grateful LPDP has enabled me to carry out my research and finish the whole of my PhD journey without any financial constraints.

I thought having a PhD abroad for a girl like me, where both of my late parents never went to school, lives in a very small town in Sulawesi, far away from the capital city, is just a dream. However, my ambitions were high, support from my family was strong and my former employer encouraged me to pursue a PhD abroad and make a meaningful contribution to the development and improvement of Indonesian fisheries governance.

This thesis was made through a long journey of learning, experiences, enjoyment, enthusiasm, struggling, patience, persistence and of course with the help of many people. Thus, in this page, I would like to acknowledge people for their unconditional assistance, contribution, support and companionship during this journey.

First of all, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to both of my supervisors: Ursula Daxecker and Philip Schleifer for their supervisions, contributions, ideas and tremendous assistance during my PhD journey. Thanks a lot Ursula for your unconditional supports, even since before we met, you always gave your hand in every kind of help I need. I am deeply grateful of being one of your PhD students. Your encouragement, motivation and your trust have helped me to encounter my low self-confidence when I started this PhD journey. Your broad perspective and extensive knowledge have inspired and brought my manuscript to a better level.

Philip, I am indebted for your support and contribution since the very beginning of my PhD journey. Your in-depth understanding and experience in this field help me to shape my research better. I thank you for your valuable inputs and critical feedback during our discussions, which have helped and contributed to the better writing process of the manuscript.

Second, I would like to thank people in Indonesia, who made time for me, assisted me and answered to every single of my questions. I thank people in the Ministry of Marine Affairs and Fisheries in Jakarta. I Thank to Pak Syahril Rauf (Kak Chali) and all of his friendly staffs for not only letting me in and occupying your office for most of days I was in Jakarta, but also answering to every single question I have. I thank wonderful people in the Directorate Fisheries and Marine Surveillance (PSDKP), at GMB 4 building, who always sincerely accepted me and provided me with every single information I need. A big thank to a late wonderful and dedicated guy, Pak Adi, I wish I could tell you directly that finally I am finishing my PhD and hand over the complete thesis to you as you wished, but COVID has ruined all of our plan, now I am sure you are in heaven reaping all the rewards of your good deeds. I thank you all wonderful and great people in Batam, Natuna, West Kalimantan, Manado, Bitung and Makassar. I thank you Bang Iyal, the Vice-Regent of Natuna, thank you for accepting me to stay over nights in your wonderful home, making me one of your family, introducing me to some important people in Natuna, giving me a private lecture about the importance of maritime knowledge, and accompanying me jumping from one island to another only to make my pocket full with great information I need. I thank to all friendly staff of PSDKP at Batam, Tanjung Pinang, Bitung and Pontianak, BAKAMLA Manado and Jakarta, Provincial fisheries officer of Gorontalo, South and North Sulawesi, District fisheries officer of Bone, and last but not least local fishermen in Bitung, Pontianak and Bitung, for making time for me and answering all of my questions. I thank Prof Jamaluddin Jompa, the dean of postgraduate school of Hasanuddin University, who always made time for me, either in Jakarta or in Makassar, in answering all of my questions. Lastly, I thank great people from Destructive Fishing Watch Indonesia, thank you Pak Abdi, Uya, and Arif for our meaningful discussions and help guide me to see a contribution needed for a better fishery in Indonesia.

Third, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to people in Amsterdam who have contributed and helped my PhD process. I would like to thank my former colleague and everyday office mate. Thank you, Joan, I really enjoyed our joke, our sometimes-silly-imagination and laugh. Thank you, Roberto, for always making time for me to answer all kind of my questions and for giving me the always best practical recommendations, thanks a lot for being a good friend. I thank for all the colleague of B.9.01, from the beginning of my PhD journey: Joep, Jos, Daniel, Dany, Kris, Chris, Douwe, Jessica2, Tasniem, Esme, Pieter and the office neighbors: Milan and Dilliara. I thank also to Maria and Francine, the best housemate ever, thank you for making my first year in Amsterdam is memorable.

Finally, I would like to thank my family who made me who I am. My greatest appreciation and memories to both of my late parents, Beddu Baso and Sulhan, for raising me up and educating me, I am very proud of being one of your daughters. I thank to my sisters and brother for their unconditional love, support and pray for me. And lastly, to Randy, for being the best companion during my PhD trajectory, I thank you for your remarkably patience, support and prays, thank you for accompanying me on this journey.

Curriculum Vitae

Nilmawati was born on 5th February 1983 in Palu, the capital city of Central Sulawesi, Indonesia. She obtained her BSc degree in Marine Science from Hasanuddin University, Indonesia in 2006. In late 2006 till 2009 she taught some classes in the institute of marine and fisheries in Palu. In 2010 she was awarded STuNed, a scholarship from Dutch government, for her master degree in Marine and Aquaculture Fisheries Program at Wageningen University.

Shortly after the completion of her master degree, she was recruited by a local non-government organization, the Yayasan Masyarakat dan Perikanan Indonesia (MDPI) and worked as a community engagement coordinator, where she worked closely with local fishermen, particularly, in introducing the first Fair Trade standard for capture fisheries a couple of villages. In 2014, she started to work in the Destructive Fishing Watch (DFW) Indonesia, where her first assignment was managing and running a project remotely from the DFW's headquarters in Jakarta. The project aims to eradicate destructive fishing practices (DFPs) through strengthening social cooperation between communities and local government, making them aware the impact of DFPs.

Her interest on the politic of international fisheries combines with her working experience has led her to pursue a doctoral study. In 2016 she applied a scholarship from the Indonesian Endowment Fund for Education/Lembaga Pengelola Dana Pendidikan (LPDP). After completing a three-selection round, she was granted the PhD Scholarship. She started to work on her PhD project, as this thesis described, under the supervision of Ursula Daxecker and Philip Schleifer at the University of Amsterdam.
