The most public of all history: family history and heritage albums in the transmission of records

Tucker, S.N.

Citation for published version (APA):
Tucker, S. N. (2009). The most public of all history: family history and heritage albums in the transmission of records.

General rights
It is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), other than for strictly personal, individual use, unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

Disclaimer/Complaints regulations
If you believe that digital publication of certain material infringes any of your rights or (privacy) interests, please let the Library know, stating your reasons. In case of a legitimate complaint, the Library will make the material inaccessible and/or remove it from the website. Please Ask the Library: https://uba.uva.nl/en/contact, or a letter to: Library of the University of Amsterdam, Secretariat, Singel 425, 1012 WP Amsterdam, The Netherlands. You will be contacted as soon as possible.
LIST OF CONTENTS

Summary in English vii

Summary in Dutch ix

Acknowledgements xi

Chapters:

1. Introduction 1

   Goals and Definitions 2
   Memories’ Practices, Memories’ People 6
   Women and Men 16
   Family History’s Numbers 18
   Album Makers’ Numbers 21
   Introduction to the Chapters 24
   Limits and Contributions of the Study 25

2. Layers of Memories, Practices, and Meanings 27

   Layers 29
   Literature Review: Family History from the Perspective of Archivists and Librarians 33
   Literatures Review: Albums and Private Memory Keeping about Families 37
   Transmission 43
   Recontextualization 49
   Pluralization 51
   Influences 54
   Technology 55
   Levels of Expertise 57
   Gender 59
   Migration 62
   Social Practices in All These Layers 64

3. Historical Overview of the Practices and Forms of Family History 71
European Ancestors 72
Early Colonial Family History 76
Late Colonial American Genealogy 78
The Early Republic to the 1840s 83
Trends of Mid Nineteenth to Late Nineteenth Century 89
The Late Nineteenth Century to the 1960s 96
A Period of Change: The Late-Twentieth Century to the Present 102
Between Public and Private Records 110

4. Research Design and Methodology 112

Ethnographic Work 113
Early Stages of Work and Ongoing Considerations 115
Finding People to Study 119
Phases of the Study 120
Phase One 120
  Textual Analysis 120
  Participant Observation 121
Phase Two 122
Phase Three 124
  Family Historians 125
  Album Makers 127
  Analysis 130
Phase Four 131
Phase Five 133
Setting and Methodological Considerations 134
Cognizance of Ethnographic Interfaces 136

5. Family Historians 138

Settings: People in the Houses of Memory 139
  First Remembered Records: Obituaries 141
  Other Remembered Records and Memory Traces 143
Why Begin Family History? Why Collect Records? 146
  To Understand Life-Changing Events 148
  To Satisfy Curiosity 149
  To Find a Local Past 149
  To Find Obscured or Forgotten Identities 149
Processes 151
  Research: A Dance between Records and Clues 151
  Developing Expertise 153
  Learning in Groups 159
  Organizing Work 164
Influences: Gender and Migration 165
Gender as Perceived by Family Historians 165
Thoughts on Migration 169
Interpreting the Work of Family History 171
Transmission 172
Pluralization 175
Settings in the Network of Memory 176

6. Heritage Album Makers 179

Settings: People in Houses of Memory 180
First Remembered Memory Forms: Families, Stories, and Places 182
Other Remembered Beginnings 184
Why Begin Heritage Albums? Why Collect Records? 185
Reasons for Continuing on with Heritage Albums 189
To Have Some Creative Outlet 189
To Make a Lasting Book 190
To Know the Past 192
To Connect To Others 194
Processes 195
Finding the Perfect Album 195
Designing the Heritage Album 196
Using Technology 197
Influences: Gender and Migration 198
Gender 199
Migration 202
Interpreting the Work of Album Makers 204
Transmission 204
Pluralization 209
The Middle Point 211

7. The Transmission and Pluralization of Family Memories 215

Movement and Layering 216
A Succession of Knowing 219
Marie Rosalie’s Story and Records about Her 221
Linking the Family to Collective Memory 229
Always Remembered 234
Dedicated Memory 236
Dynamic Memory 248
The Hospitality of Memory, Ideas, and Nations 250

8. Conclusion 255
Settings 256
Differences Between Family Historians and Album Makers 259
  Almost Finite versus Infinite Work 259
  Identity/Evidence Split 260
Commonalities Between Family Historians and Album Makers 261
  The Bigger Picture: The Collective Nature of Family History 262
  Technology 263
Archival Roles in Shaping Collective Memories 265
  Changes to Archival Education 265
  Enhanced Archival Programs 267
  Changing Professional Roles 271
Future Study 273
Concluding Remarks 274

Appendix 277
Questions for Family Historians 277
  Background of the Participant 277
  General Questions about Work with Family History 277
  Processes and Practices 278
  Purpose and Vocabulary 279
Questions for Heritage Album Makers 279
  Background of the Participant 279
  General Questions about Work with Albums 280
  Processes and Practices 280
  Purpose and Vocabulary 281

List of Sources 283
Index 322
LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS

Figure 1  Marie Rosalie Préjean Pécot (1714–1813)  234

Figure 2  The Miho Baccich Archives  239

Figure 3  Miho Baccich Private Records and Public Records  242