International cooperation between politics and practice: how Dutch Indonesian cooperation changed remarkably little after a diplomatic rupture
Vos, M.L.

Citation for published version (APA):
Vos, M. L. (2001). International cooperation between politics and practice: how Dutch Indonesian cooperation changed remarkably little after a diplomatic rupture

General rights
It is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), other than for strictly personal, individual use, unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

Disclaimer/Complaints regulations
If you believe that digital publication of certain material infringes any of your rights or (privacy) interests, please let the Library know, stating your reasons. In case of a legitimate complaint, the Library will make the material inaccessible and/or remove it from the website. Please Ask the Library: http://uba.uva.nl/en/contact, or a letter to: Library of the University of Amsterdam, Secretariat, Singel 425, 1012 WP Amsterdam, The Netherlands. You will be contacted as soon as possible.
Table of contents

Preface xi
List of tables, graphs and matrices xiii
List of figures xiv
Glossary xv

Part 1: Questions – A Riddle and a Hint

Chapter 1  A decision and a riddle: the redefinition of Dutch-Indonesian cooperation in 1992 3
Introduction 3
An 'incident' leading to another incident 4
A brief history of Dutch-Indonesian relations 6
  Finding a new way to relate 7
March 25, a black and a victorious day 9
A riddle, some assumptions and a bit of exegesis 12
  A successful reshuffle in international relations 13
  Chaos and uncertainty in bilateral relations 13
  Do 'mutual benefit' and 'equality' only refer to economic relations? 16
  Or does it mean cooperation without government involvement? 18
  Still puzzling 18

Chapter 2  The quest to solve the riddle: another model of the policy process 21
On rationality 23
  Rationalities: multiple meanings and interests 23
  Institutions constraining and enabling rationality and action 26
On hierarchy 27
  More than one rational decision-maker 28
  Development administration: hierarchy in another socio-cultural context 29
  Networks rather than pyramids 30
An alternative model: the policy process as three games 32
Elements of the games 35
   The players: individuals or corporate; orientations and capabilities 36
   Stakes: problem-solving at three levels 36
   Interaction between the games: modes and actor constellations 38
   Rules: formal and informal institutions 39
   The playing field: the policy environment 41

Research questions 42
   Overview of the book 43

Chapter 3  Planning the quest: research-design 45
Comparative case study 46
Selection of cases 48
Factors and types of data for thick description 49

Part II – Projects and Practices

Chapter 4  A tale of two countries 57
Indonesia: Unity in extreme diversity 58
   The state philosophy, a shared culture? 58
Indonesian politics in the New Order; unity, stability and development 60
   Politics and pyramids 60
   The organisation of government 64
Development in the New Order: snappy balloons for the happy few 66
Dutch society and politics 68
   A brief overview of a small country 68
   Political system and political outlook 1960s-1990s 69
Dutch foreign policy: Exporting social democracy, amongst other things 70
   The objectives of Dutch foreign policy 71
   The organisation of Dutch foreign policy 72
Dutch foreign aid 73
   Aid to Indonesia 75

Chapter 5  Cultural cooperation 79
Indonesia’s cultural development policy: high stakes, low priorities 80
   Bahasa Indonesia, the carrier of a unified nation 80
   Indonesia as a religious rather than theocratic country 81
   Education and human resource development 84
Dutch international cultural relations as foreign policy 85
   The Cultural Agreement Indonesia-the Netherlands 87
The Department of Dutch Language and Culture

A Dutch language department at an Indonesian university

1992 and afterwards

Program of Indonesian Studies (PRIS)

Managing the program: keeping the cooperation going
Education: more than originally planned
Research: divergent needs and views on science
Around 1992: a stick to hit the dog

The Indonesian Linguistics Development Project

Ildep I: how to classify a project
Ildep II: a perfect aide
1992 and afterwards

Cooperation in Islamic Studies

The making of a cooperation: building networks and spreading the good news
Articulating interests and playing with the rules after 1992

The Irian Jaya Studies project

The interests in Irian Jaya
The making of a cooperation no. 2
Parting ways in 1992

Cultural Cooperation as a guinea pig

Chapter 6  Technical cooperation for industry development

Indonesia's industry policy
Managing the industry policy; actors, beliefs and policies
Achievements and problems; the industrial development in brief
Technical assistance or assistance to Dutch industry; the debated division between aid and trade
The legal framework for aid with trade
Policies, instruments and competing departments

Indonesian-Dutch cooperation in the aerospace industry
The political game; high stakes and highly controversial
Defining the project as a Dutch-Indonesian development aid
Managing the project: engineers bridging cultural pitfalls
Implementation, as smooth as can be
APERT, to capitalise previous investments

Laminated Wooden Boats
Problem definition: better boats and modern management for the common fishermen
Two attempts and the right hit
Organisational set up
Waves of support but a quiet deluge in 1993
An integrated development project: shattered hopes and plans 160

Luwu, South Sulawesi 161
Policies and actors in an unsettling context: from irrigation to integration 161
Engineering cooperation and integration: like goats 164
Please, call it a day 166

Regional development in North and Central Aceh: LTA 77 169
Aceh, a special territory 169
Background of the project: the problem-definition of an Acehnese professor 170
The project: several, but not conflicting objectives 171
The Coffee Project 173
Attention but no intervention from the political game 175
1992: the end but not quite the end of the action 177
Injustice, cowardice and free for al capitalism: how to evaluate the aftermath 179

Chapter 7 Cooperation for legal development 183
The Indonesian legal system: constraints for many, resources for a few 184
Law development: plurality, choice and pressure 184
Legal education and information 186
The judiciary: between the powers that be 188
Good governance as foreign aid: a small initiative becomes a full-fledged program 190
Political controversy in the Netherlands 193
Cooperation: the essence of assistance and the dilemma of dependency 194
The Academic Program 197
The Sandwich Project 197
The Inter-university Project 199
1992 and afterwards 201
The Judges Project 202
The project: a neutral way to address a tricky problem 203
A conflict of norms 205
After 1992, continuation the Indonesian way 207
Legal Drafting, codification and training 208
Training course on Legislative Drafting 209
Other priorities after 1992 211
Attempts to restore some forms of cooperation after 1992 212
Part III – Conclusions and Recommendations

Chapter 8  Cross case analysis and conclusions 217
Recapitulation of the questions and approach 217
Players: bold, skilled & motivated 220
   Bold players in the implementation game 224
   The origins of motivation 224
   Skilled players 227
Political stakes versus the stakes of the shopfloor 227
   Whose stakes mattered 228
   Loosing interest in projects 229
   Congruency, real or rhetoric 230
Interaction: networks connecting the games 231
   Strong and weak networks 231
   Isolated islands and hampering communications 232
   Double functions and key nodes 233
   Negotiated agreement and bottom-up interaction 234
Rules: Anticipation, interpretation and doing as the Romans do 235
   Policy management: rules and chaos 235
   Interpreting political correctness 236
   Observing Indonesian rules 237
   Unresolved or badly solved conflicts 238
Policy environment: a bit of structure and a lot of agency 240
Patterns and anomalies 243
The importance of the shopfloor 248
   A déjà-vu 250
Change of the window-dressing 250

Chapter 9  Reflections and recommendations 253
Reflecting on the three games approach 253
Rethinking, reinventing and redoing politics 255
International cooperation as deliberative practice 256

Notes 262
References 285
List of interviewees 311
Samenvatting 317