Living in concentrated poverty

Pinkster, F.M.

Citation for published version (APA):
Living in concentrated poverty

4. Localized social networks, socialization and social mobility in a low-income neighborhood in the Netherlands
   4.1 Introduction
   4.2 Mechanisms behind neighborhood effects
   4.3 A Dutch case study
   4.4 The research area
   4.5 Interaction at local level
   4.6 Employment opportunities
   4.7 Work ethics and socialization
   4.8 Discussion

5. Watch out for the neighborhood trap! A case study on parental perceptions of, and strategies to counter, negative neighborhood influences on child development
   5.1 Introduction
   5.2 The interplay between neighborhood and family context
   5.3 Research design
   5.4 Perceptions of the neighborhood
   5.5 How families avoid risk
   5.6 Discussion

6. Conclusion
   6.1 Endogenous mechanisms behind neighborhood effects
   6.2 The relationship between mechanisms
   6.3 Differential effects and selective mechanisms
   6.4 The research findings in a comparative perspective
   6.5 A qualitative perspective on neighborhood effects research
   6.6 Suggestions for future research and reflection on urban policy
   6.7 Conclusion

Appendices

Summaries (English and Dutch)