Working apart together : using ICTs in research collaboration
Vasileiadou, E.

Citation for published version (APA):

General rights
It is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), other than for strictly personal, individual use, unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

Disclaimer/Complaints regulations
If you believe that digital publication of certain material infringes any of your rights or (privacy) interests, please let the Library know, stating your reasons. In case of a legitimate complaint, the Library will make the material inaccessible and/or remove it from the website. Please Ask the Library: http://uba.uva.nl/en/contact, or a letter to: Library of the University of Amsterdam, Secretariat, Singel 425, 1012 WP Amsterdam, The Netherlands. You will be contacted as soon as possible.

UvA-DARE is a service provided by the library of the University of Amsterdam (http://dare.uva.nl)

Download date: 20 Dec 2018
Acknowledgements

Finalising ‘Working Apart Together’ felt all too often like Working Apart... Apart. It has not been easy, to put it mildly. Nevertheless, there were people who supported me, to whom I remain grateful. My promoter, Prof. dr. Stuart Blume helped me improve my work with his comments, and remained my promoter throughout a rather turbulent period. My co-promotor, Dr. Rens Vliegenthart had the courage to support my “not-out-of-the-box” work, helped me improve it substantially and restored my faith in my intellectual capacities.

Work underlying this dissertation has been funded by the European Commission (5th Framework Programme), the Royal Netherlands Academy for Arts and Sciences, the Amsterdam School for Social sciences Research and the UWV. The Amsterdam School for Communication Research has proved a challenging yet stimulating context, and particularly the Internet PhD club under the guidance of Dr. Sally Wyatt.

During the last two years, I was lucky to find myself in a new academic environment, which is open and relaxed: the Institute for Environmental Studies, at Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam, where I learnt to trust my academic skills again.

I am especially grateful to many colleagues for their contributions during the process of data gathering, coding, analysis, brainstorming, and writing this dissertation (in alphabetical order): Isidro Aguillo, Roberto Dandi, Nigel Gilbert, Andreas Gogos, Gaston Heimeriks, Dimitris Kalamaras, Tony Krijnen, Martin Lea, Diana Lucio-Arias, Manolis Mavrikakis, Elena Molteni, Caterina Muzzi, Carolijn Nevejan, Alexander Schouten, Peter van den Besselaar, Tamara Witschge, Sally Wyatt.

My friends have ensured that I both enjoy and remain sane during the process: Nansy and Rozier (always and in very critical times), Valerie, Yens, Annemarie, Mara, Zogia, Maria, Diana and Rafael, Koen, Katerina, Todd, Cathy, Gerben, Marc, Leigh and Owen. My thanks to Gaston Heimeriks for his support and stimulation, and for introducing me to his very caring family.

At all times, my family and my sister, Dr. Katerina Vasileiadou, have endlessly believed in me and given me so much more than I can thank them for.